Scope and Content Notes

The collection contains trade catalogs and advertising literature, mainly American latter 19th century to mid 20th century, with some emphasis on California items. These items supplement the much larger Lawrence B. Romaine Trade Catalog Collection, which is described separately. This guide is updated periodically as additional items are acquired for the collection.

Items in the collection are arranged by subject categories established by Lawrence B. Romaine in his Guide to American Trade Catalogs, 1774-1900, with some additional categories mainly to accommodate more recent kinds of products. The following is the list of categories used. At present, however, the collection does not have items in all categories. Current holdings are indicated in the Container List section of the guide. Within a given category, items are arranged by name of company or manufacturer.
